Breaking the cycle of domestic violence.

Dear Friends,

Each year brings new challenges—and clear reminders of how essential Rose Brooks Center's work is to the safety and well-being of our community.

Individuals and families continue to turn to Rose Brooks Center in moments of crisis and transition: seeking shelter at all hours, calling for support when danger feels imminent, navigating hospitals and courtrooms, beginning the process of healing, and working to rebuild stability for themselves and their children. Survivors are met with compassionate advocacy, clinical care, and practical resources, while prevention programs equip young people with tools for safety and resilience. Even beloved pets find safety alongside their families, removing yet another barrier to leaving an abusive situation.

This growing need comes at a time when funding at the local and federal levels is increasingly uncertain. Even so, Rose Brooks Center remains unwavering in its mission to break the cycle of domestic violence so that individuals and families can live free of abuse. The organization continues to adapt, steward resources responsibly, and provide life-saving services when and where they are needed most.

Having served as Board President, I have seen firsthand the integrity, resilience, and dedication that guide this work. Leadership and staff remain deeply committed to survivor safety, dignity, and long-term stability.

None of this work is possible without the steadfast support of our community. Donors, volunteers, partners, and advocates stand with Rose Brooks Center, ensuring survivors are never alone, even in uncertain times.

Thank you for standing with Rose Brooks Center and for believing in a future free from violence.

With gratitude,

Mark Garrett, Board President (Fiscal Year Ending 2025)
